‘Growing Pains’ eased with Business Decision Tools through ClickBase for AccountMate

PETALUMA, CA—AccountMate Software Corporation and ClickBase Corporation have partnered to offer clients tightly integrated Business Intelligence (BI) for more effective decision making with the ClickBase for AccountMate BI module.

BI allows organizations to measure and monitor their performance with dashboards to track key metrics that support better business decisions. Reporting and analysis of information from across the organization is presented to employees to monitor results, recognize trends and identify inconsistencies. Effective BI ensures that people within an organization have the tools to enable them to focus on those measurements that are key to the success of their department, division or region.

ClickBase for AccountMate eases the ‘challenges’ of growing companies by simplifying the complexities associated with organic growth through focused information analysis. As data and information increases with the number of clients, suppliers, partners and employees, companies can control and filter the overload to focus on key metrics. New processes, additional products, complex pricing and new markets can be evaluated and planned based on accurate information instead of assumptions and estimates.

ClickBase for AccountMate is a fully integrated BI and reporting module, retrieving and combining information from multiple databases to present consolidated, complete information in reports or graphical formats to give employees insight into their organization’s progress and results with the ability to drill down to transaction level data when needed. Information is delivered real-time from the AccountMate software financial system and provides a paperless system that could save many thousands of dollars a year. ClickBase for AccountMate provides a well-defined decision making strategy solution no matter the size or complexity of an organization.

Businesses get the information they need exactly how they want it with ClickBase for AccountMate. Integrate from multiple sources and multiple formats, blending information from across the organization. Manage with the easy-to-use interface that takes only days, not months to master. Analyze with ‘slice and dice’ capabilities that allow you to view data and reports that matter to your business. Present through reports, charts, graphs, dashboards or through the Internet — whatever is best to empower your people.
